Rosalind is the enlightening story of a feisty, ambitious country girl from Black Oak, Indiana ending up as a compliant, high class hooker left stranded and defenseless in the desert wastes of an Arabian Sheikdom named Dubai – and what happened next. When a stunningly beautiful young woman escapes from a violent, abusive father and takes up a new life in the big city, circumstances combine to make the story of Rosalind one of strength and determination in a quest to conquer her past and create a new successful and eventually love-filled future. However, when Rosalind gives her unconditional love to a seemingly kind and gentle person, someone in high standing with the wealthy and powerful, she is shocked to discover he is in reality a high class pimp and someone who would turn her into a cheap, imprisoned whore, trapped in a godforsaken place where women were chattels to be beaten, ridiculed and disposed of at a whim. Although her ‘Prince’ may have callously discarded her, deeply concerned friends of Rosalind have not, and so two more strong female characters are brought vibrantly alive as they embark on a quest to find the truth of what lays behind the complex veil of lies and deceit being practiced by Middle Eastern officials and lackeys of the Arabian royal. One in particular makes an amazing discovery as she investigates the disappearance of her friend; a discovery that is to have life changing consequences, driving her determinedly on a path of retribution from which there will be no turning back.

Mary Linkous:

As a university student exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library in order to make summary for some book, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's internal or real their hobby. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to the library. They go to right now there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring in addition to can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we wish. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Rosalind can make you truly feel more interested to read.
